

At age 16, a transformation begins. Her looks improve, and she's much prettier. She works to fit in and makes friends with many different groups of people from school to 4-H and her church.

2

Age 18:

Scholarship to college, prom queen, has an awesome boyfriend! Life has definitely taken a good turn. Senior year of high school couldn't be better!

Age: 18:

Senior year was her turn around year. She decided to change her friends, her attitude and move forward! All of the change led to a new decision. At the urging of her new friends, she has applied to a community college she never would have even considered in her future.

6

Age: 20

Engaged! He's such a great guy. School is going great and a decision is made to go ahead and leave the dorm and move in with him. She gets a part time job to help with expenses and still has her scholarship to pay for school. Life is sweet!

8

Age 20:

She knows how lucky she is that she was given this great opportunity in this interesting job! And even better news is the fact her employer is going to help financially for her to attend a few college classes each semester!

10

At age 16, she takes a turn for the worse. She decided she would just embrace the bad reputation everyone was talking about! She's made friends with the wrong crowd and is acting like she is the person people made up!

3

Age 18:

The internet pictures never go away. The pictures from the past have resurfaced! She is now faced with the same bad gossip and whispers from before. Her Senior Year was supposed to be fun, but she hates showing her face in the hallway at school!

5

Age 18:

A new bad boy, leads her to all new world of drugs and sex. Unfortunately, this leads her to an unplanned pregnancy and forget about college! Now what is she going to do? And the baby's Dad – he's really short tempered and controlling!

7

Age 20:

The perfect man was not so perfect! He dumped her and all of her dreams slip away. She was so distraught all of her grades slipped and she lost her scholarship! Now her parents (YOU!) are insisting she get a job right away and the only thing she can find is McDonalds!

9

Age 20:

She is still depressed over the way her life has turned. She ended high school a loner and just can't seem to shake the feeling of never going to make it in this world. She is spending most of her time sleeping and on YOUR couch watching reality TV.

11

Age 20:

Community college turns out to be a very good thing!

She has met a guy that is working hard to get a degree and good job! AND they are talking about marriage! She expects an engagement ring any day!

Age 20:

Single parenting is tough. The baby's Dad has long disappeared, but in reality, that has been a good thing! Her main focus in Rehab has been to do it for her child. She's getting involved with the young adults at a local church and she's amazed she is enjoying hanging with these nice people!

14

Age 22:

It's as if she is working through the check list of life. Graduating with honors from college lands her the dream job! Check! The wedding was perfectly beautiful! Check! Her and groom got off to a great start finding the perfect little home and now....a baby on the way! Life is so wonderful!

16

Age 22:

Through sheer determination she struggles with working a terrible job full time and will not give up on school! Slowly, she gets her grades back up and finally gets a better job for a little better pay to support her in her own apartment.

18

Age 22:

The latest guy in her life makes her wonder how she ever thought so little of herself. He is teaching her to believe in herself and totally supports her plan to go into teaching so she can help troubled kids move through school without suffering the way she did!

20

Age 20:

Partying every night has coming with a big cost:

- She gained a lot of weight!
- Clearly hanging out with the wrong people
- She fell so behind in school she had to drop out
- And now she finds out she has a STD! What a horrible experience to not only worry about her health but to have to list off her multiple partners!

13

Age 20:

The drug use spiraled out of control and she is arrested for not only drug possession, but also the dealing she had to do to pay for her habit. She's left her child (YOUR GRANDCHILD) with the abusive father! YOU are fighting for Grandparent visitation.

Age 22:

Moving in with the finance was turned out to not have been the best plan. When the break up came, he demanded she leave and take nothing! Everything was in his name, even the furniture she had been making all of the payments on! Now she is left with no choice but to move back in with her parents! They had turned her old room into an office so she's sleeping on the couch! YUCK!

17

Age 22:

When she flunks out of college, she asks to come home. You refuse, telling her it is time she makes it on her own! Right now she's living couch to couch with her low life friends. She has even lost her job and is working a temp job.

Age 22:

It was easy to take advantage of the situation and forget how lucky she was. The job was awesome, but had a little too much freedom. She didn't have to punch a clock and she thought people wouldn't pay attention to her slacking off occasionally! It was a real shock when she got fired for lying about her time report! At least she will get a college degree, but would have loved to have stayed with her job!

Age 22:

The counseling took a lot of time and self-work, but it was so worth it to get through the Dark Days as she calls it now! Pulling her life together has been like piecing a new puzzle, including where she really wants to spend her energy. A new town, new faces and a new life is all ahead!

22

Age 22:

Married with a baby, she was still able to graduate with a degree from the Child Care Academy. She's working with the Afterschool group at the Day Care and has started working on an Anti-bullying club. She totally understands the difference this could make to her young students.

24

Age 22:

The health impact from the STD have been tough to overcome, but she is working hard to turn it all around. She has learned to become a strict vegan and is getting ready to run her first half marathon. With the right food, exercise and health care, she may be able to beat this disease!

26

Age 22:

While trying to find work as a single Mom has never been easy, it seems this time work has found her. She is the new Youth Minister! And she gets to take her child to work. Perfect!

28

Age 22:

As her parents it was a tough decision to bail her out of jail. You always said you wouldn't. But she declares she is divorcing the loser and wants to fight for sole custody of the child. You know you have to help if this is ever going to happen, and you know it's best for your grandchild!

30

Age 22:

No one ever set out to become a prostitute. And that is such an old term! Actually, she likes the term "paid companion." The fact the most of the men in her life are all old and gross is just part of the job. And who really cares anyway?

23

Age 22:

Why do all of the nice guys always turn out to be losers? Still engaged, she's wondering if she should leave. He's drinking and abusive at least half of the time. And then he's so sorry and tries to make it up to her!

25

Age 22:

The healthcare system is failing to offer the right treatment for this disease! Without insurance, she can't get the right drugs and even see the Infectious Disease Dr. Where should she turn??

27

Age 22:

The tests on her child are conclusive. She has a development disability! And the Doctor was clear it was most likely due to drug use during her pregnancy! She knows she will have to endure this guilt for the rest of her life!

29

Age 22:

It's been weeks since you've heard from her. You begged her not to go away with the latest in a long line of losers! You've filed a missing person report, but are at a dead end of where to even look. You are just hoping to hear her voice!

Your daughter Lyric is 14 years old. You are all so lucky you have such a wonderful home in the country, you are able to provide your family with everything you all need financially. Sometimes you know your daughter is having a hard time at school. Some of the kids have been unkind to her because she looks different, and some would say unattractive. However, she is an excellent student and her grades are near perfect!

Your daughter Hope is 14 years old. Moving out to the country had seemed like a perfect plan. Even with both parents working full time, it was still so hard to make rent. The mobile home park seemed like the perfect solution. Little did you know your daughter would meet the boy of your nightmares! Or should you say MAN? An 18 year old high school senior is wanting to date your girl. And even though she is very pretty and looks much older, she is still in Middle School!

Your son, Oliver is 14 years old. You can't help but be worried about why he's not home from school yet. Moving to this beautiful neighborhood with the tree lined streets, kids riding bikes, friendly smiles and actually knowing the names of the people who live around you have not improved his social skills. Each day of this school year he seems more withdrawn and more unwilling to try to make friends at school. He doesn't even pretend to try to make grades anymore and you are having discussions as a family about home schooling.

Today she came home from school and is so upset! Some of the kids at school have taken some pictures of your daughter with cell phones while she wasn't aware and have photo shopped them to appear....well....as if she's doing some very disgusting things! You are so worried what is going to happen next?

STOP HERE UNTIL NEXT TURN

Today you had the girl at work show you how to get on the computer to see how her grades are and not only does she have mostly F's, she's missed five days of school in the past two weeks without your knowledge! What is this girl doing?

STOP HERE UNTIL NEXT TURN

The phone rings and it is the school principal on the phone. He needs you to come to school immediately! Apparently your son has been sexting nude pictures of himself to several girls who have reported him. The principal lets you know the police are on their way and there will be charges filed!

STOP HERE UNTIL NEXT TURN
